Presidents Message

The days are getting colder and winter seems to be on its way. Also, these are the times of greater fire danger and winter emergencies. I am asking MHRC members to keep their scanners and amateur radios on when the weather is windy and dry or when road conditions are bad. Emergencies may not be big ones but to someone sliding off the road or witnessing an accident it can be very frustrating to try to get help and realize no one is listening.

Ham radio is great but it only works if someone is on the other end. I have one of the MDP radios and I noticed when we had the recent power outage many MDP people were on the radio reporting their outage but I didn't hear any hams. In spite of the recent advances in finding the extent of an outage, Edison still needs to know where the power is out. It also fosters a sense of community to know others are having the same problem. If you have a scanner, you can input the MDP frequency 462.175 and you can also put it in your ham radio and listen but you will not be able to transmit on that frequency

There have been more people participating in the message handling at roll call time but we need more. All RACES members should be taking advantage of the opportunity to practice sending and receiving messages. It sounds easy when an expert like Bill Baker is talking, but the rest of us still sound like amateurs and stumble around and get it wrong. It may be the only way you will get training like this so take advantage of it.

President Vi reported that Secretary Christie Huss will not be able to attend this meeting because of car trouble experienced in Hemet. Christie is riding in the tow truck which is towing her car home.

- B. Rick Foster reported on Message Handling after Roll Call. We need active participation; Rick Foster stated that in particular all RACES people need to practice passing messages for better success because absolute accuracy can be critical to saving a life. Bill Baker suggested passing messages before Roll Call and reading back by recipients after Roll Call. Roll Call should then start 15 minutes (or more) earlier to practice taking a message word for word as given, taking care with abbreviations (and so state: when something is an abbreviation. Bill says we must do this practice as protocol is very, very

RACES Report – Mountain District

2011 has been a year with some gains for communications in the mountain areas. RACES membership is on the rise, a good sign, but training has not been as successful for what ever reason. I think that the ease of communicating independent of amateur radio lulls many that have licenses into believing that those systems will really always be there – that one or more of the systems will save their bacon when the bad stuff hits the fan.

If up and running (many systems shut down at some load level) you may never make an intended contact. Batteries don't last forever and charging systems may not be powered.

OK so there's some difficulties – sounds like some of the same problems can affect amateur radio – AND THEY CAN – if you don't back-up power, know how to program your radio, have useful frequencies programmed in you radio, learn how to and practice making contacts both simplex and repeater, face and solve problems, participate in nets and drills.

GEE that takes a lot of time! It does at the start, but so did most things you learned in life or are still learning. What's wrong with the effort of being ready for local or wide-spread disasters or saving someone's life? Roll calls are simple & effective but structured training and active use of amateur radio can mean the difference between life and the alternative.
